

A safe place to play

Jeff Hendricks (center, standing) works with a group of volunteers to install the patio outside of the ARC of Clark County Family Resource Center, Hewlett-Packard, where Jeff works. Hewlett-Packard, where Jeff works, has allowed its employees to use their "leadership training" days to work at the site. They have also had help from volunteers from local churches, as well as juvenile offenders who are working to fulfill court-ordered community service hours.

CONTRIBUTED DESIGN

The ARC Family Center Family Picnic Area and P.R.I.D.E. Playground will include an area for play with a special design for children with disabilities. Countless businesses and individuals have donated funds, time and expertise to the project, however organizers still need to raise approximately $45,000.
